

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Some apps wont Screen Mirror?

blair99 - December 15, 2020, 4:40 pm

Good day.

So I'm new to android, I've always been an apple guy and I used to jailbreak all the time. I just got a Samsung Galaxy Tab A (8.4) I got it for working out of town and I'd like to use it just for streaming my Shaw cable, Netflix, Disney+ and etc.

So I downloaded the apps but some apps can't be screen mirrored. I was going to mirror it in blue tooth at home and on the road I got a usb-c to hdmi so I can plug it into TVs.

So like I said I'm new to the android OS. Am I going to have to root it to do what I want or is there a way to do it without rooting.

Can someone tell me how to allow screen mirroring when apps block it?

device info:

One UI version: 2.1

android: 10

base band version: T307UVLS4BTJ1

KERNAL: 4.4.177-19484886

Build Number: QP1A.190711.020.T307UVLS4BTJ1

Knox version:

knox 3.6

knox api level 32

TIMA 4.1.0

Security software version:

ASKS v3.1

ADP v3.0

SMR nov-2020 release 1

Android security patch level: nov 1, 2020

(not sure if any of that was needed)

Thanks blair

blair99 - December 19, 2020, 7:17 am

So if I try using the blue curve app I can't screen mirror. So I tried downloading the newest Firefox and chrome on my tablet because it says supported browsers chrome75+ and firefox68+ and android 7+ and switched it to desktop browser so I can watch it on the internet and screen mirror that but it doesn't work I get a page saying your system isn't compatible with bluecurve tv.. and If I'm in mobile browser it tries and opens up the app.

Any ideas?

zoro_1 - December 19, 2020, 8:18 am

(Dec 19, 2020 08:17 AM)blair99 Wrote: CITE So if I try using the blue curve app I can't screen mirror. So I tried downloading the newest Firefox and chrome on my tablet because it says supported browsers chrome75+ and firefox68+ and android 7+ and switched it to desktop browser so I can watch it on the internet and screen mirror that but it doesn't work I get a page saying your system isn't compatible with bluecurve tv.. and If I'm in mobile browser it try's and opens up the app.

Any ideas?

blue crave app is good

blair99 - December 19, 2020, 3:40 pm

(Dec 19, 2020 09:18 AM)zoro_1 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) blue crave app is good

What? i never said it wasn't. i'm asking if anyone knows how to screen mirror apps to a tv when the app won't allow it.