Thread: Do you prefer to lie or say the hurtful truth?

Speed Test - December 19, 2020, 9:10 am

I mostly prefer to say the hurtful truth to someone instead lying to them and let them live in illusions.

But if they are important to me then I will say it very very carefully to not hurt them.

What about you?

sORA - December 19, 2020, 9:27 am

ya gotta be blunt ash but it don't ever hurt to throw in a tiny little lie for reasonable stakes

Juoku - December 19, 2020, 9:47 am

I always prefer to tell someone the truth rather than lie, lying usually leads to more lies and I like to keep my life simple

ButtermilkJesus - December 19, 2020, 9:49 am

I wish I could say I tell the truth all the time but it seem like I only do when it's a bad idea.

There are some situations you must lie

L10N - December 19, 2020, 1:29 pm

I'd rather tell someone the truth. They need to know and telling a lie usually causes bigger problems further down the line

Blogger - December 19, 2020, 1:34 pm

I would prefer to lie, or sugarcoat, but I'm not wired that way. I always say what's on my mind, unfiltered, and people get offended because of it.

Sativa - December 19, 2020, 1:46 pm

Tbh, when it comes to serious things I always tell the hurtful truth, but I tend to lie about dumb shit

I have exactly the same as you

Unfortunately, I know from experience that sometimes it is impossible to tell someone the truth without hurting him, however, I think that in each case the truth will be better than, as you said yourself, living in an illusion

Sometimes the truth can make the person go against you..

Ryan_ - December 19, 2020, 4:06 pm

All depends on the person in that situation, if it's someone i don't like, it wouldn't hurt my feelings to tell the truth

Proof - December 19, 2020, 4:11 pm

I am on the side of telling the truth regardless. Your problem to deal with your own emotions.

Sometimes in life you need to say some white lies because life isn't fair most of the time :D

This is true, however, it is better to tell the truth whether or not the person is against you
If only to be in harmony with your own conscience

Cooligan - December 20, 2020, 2:06 am

I've always preferred and chosen to be brutally honest than ever lie. Lies are stupid.

DeITex - December 20, 2020, 2:18 am

Life is meant to be rough for everyone. I'm be blunt AF with everyone. It does 2 things.

1.) I tell people what they need to hear, the truth and nothing but it (regardless of how it makes them feel, because I care for them).

2.) It removes the softies from my life. I don't enjoy relating to people who can't take the truth. So, if they don't like how straight forward I am, then they leave me alone.

(Dec 19, 2020 04:17 PM)Speed Test Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sometimes the truth can make the person go against you..

True, but if you truly care for someone then you'll tell them the truth regardless of their possible reactions. How they decide to live life after being faced with the truth is their choice. And if they are going to be the type of person who reject/ignore truth, then it's best they not be a part of your life anyways.

Speed Test - December 20, 2020, 5:39 am

The polls results really impressive

Skisuit - December 20, 2020, 5:43 am

Hmmm, it largely depends on the situation and also the person I'm speaking to

Sox00 - December 20, 2020, 6:59 am im heartless, i will literally just say it how it is, if you don't like it, do one

Linux X - December 20, 2020, 7:01 am

Hurting truth, no matter what!

siddy357 - December 20, 2020, 8:00 am

Better to say truth than the soft lie.

Yes but you might hurt someone you care about..

HardcoreLeveling - December 20, 2020, 9:41 am

why you even need a lie if your wife is ugly as just admit accept it but you don't need to tell her that she's ugly, but if for a good cause your wife is fat and unhealthy you need to say it on a nice way :D.

MarvinMalware - December 20, 2020, 9:46 am

Most of the time I give the truth. However I can't say I always do, there are certain situations and specific people that I may not do that with. I don't lie, but I may not give the truth in a straightforward and abrupt way.

Guardis - December 20, 2020, 10:26 am

I prefer to say the hurting truth, but it depends on the context.

jecoylecoy - December 20, 2020, 5:15 pm

It is really difficult to keep a secret it is better, to tell the truth even if it hurts.

Lyrarei - December 20, 2020, 5:55 pm

I think I'm in the middle, I usually tell the truth but I also do some small lies to not hurt anyone.

Speed Test - December 21, 2020, 3:14 am

The results for the poll are very impressive

The Pact - December 21, 2020, 3:26 am

You should "say the hurtful truth" because the other person might be a psycho that will get revenge on you. I'm warning you.

A + - December 21, 2020, 5:19 am

I tell the truth most of the time unless it will cause harm to me or someone else.

Yin Yang - December 21, 2020, 5:22 am

The truth is always best. Even if it's inconvenient.

ThisBearScat - December 21, 2020, 6:03 am

I wouldn't lie, maybe delay telling them in the hope that they would realize theirself but tell them it how it is and bluntly lol, nothing like a sharp shock to get someone thinking about something ??

patricialaining2000 - December 21, 2020, 9:10 am

It depends on the situation. If lying will save your arse then lie. Lie can save lives as well. Best example is if a killer is looking for you but they only know your place not your face and they asking random people looking for you. At point they asked you if your name is. If you say "yes" then good bye. It happened here on my place. A man was killed because he said he was the guy that the killer looking for.

Jinu - December 21, 2020, 9:12 am

I don't like to hurt others by telling the truth.

I can vouch for James, he's speaking the truth. He has hurt me multiple times with the truth.

Alex Buckland - December 23, 2020, 12:48 pm

1. I can't lie because there's a fucking government X-ray machine on me that monitors me. If I lie I get a massive heart attack and it pleases gays.

2. You shouldn't lie as it makes you part of a corrupt force in the universe

3. Hurtful truth w/e it is, is probably for the greater good

Thanks!

NoodleBot™ - December 23, 2020, 1:04 pm

Sometimes it's more important to be truthful, even if it might hurt.

Saix the Berserker - December 23, 2020, 5:11 pm

I'd almost always go with hurtful truth, there are very few circumstances where a sugar-coated lie would be more beneficial long-term.

Tjm - December 23, 2020, 6:07 pm

For simple stuff like "Do I look nice?" white lie yes. If it makes someone feel better or feel good about themselves and it's not a real problem then why not. Serious life problems no, people have to hear the truth, but being truthful doesn't mean being arrogant about it or a dick unless it's deserving.

?ystem - December 24, 2020, 11:23 am

I very much prefer to tell the truth, even when it's hurtful. Which I have had to do quite recently with an ex on why I broke off our relationship. Lying just leads to more lies and it's far too exhausting having to remember the lie(s) you have told people in order to maintain the only temporary peace.
