Thread: Fake Live Snap Methods?

Ravioli - December 21, 2020, 3:28 am

Hey there.

I heard the app Prequel works on ios, unlucky me, I have android.

Are there any known methods out there for this? Looks like they've patched the sticker method too which is what I used to use.

Would appreciate it, thanks boys.

You can buy tool. There's few one here on the market. It's not really expensive

Is anyone currently using Spiral's app? That one looks pretty good and it's only $10.

If not, that Chicken Cam thing works good too right?

Would appreciate the insight on anyone using either of these programs. Thanks!

I'm using Spiral's app and it works perfectly, sends live snaps no problem and has a smart crop feature to remove the black bars. Even better for you since you're on Android and don't have to buy an iOS developer certificate for it.

There's few tools available here in the market including our app. You can choose between our app (SnapBytes), Spiral, atro, snxp, etc. You can choose from basic to more advanced features. I can proudly say that our app has more features that will make your e-whoring easier and faster than the other apps.

ChickenCam requires a bit of setup but is pretty simple and has worked well for me.

djflipboom - December 21, 2020, 12:42 pm

Bro everybody always saying buy this download that, just go into the lens on Snapchat and search gallery and there will be a filter that allows you to upload a pic as a live snap and you can zoom in to fit the whole screen.

Titangen3 - December 21, 2020, 12:56 pm

Try the app LMK, it's a snapchat one.

My friend that has iOS tried and said it worked fine.

Do you have iOS or Android, and if Android, what version are you running and how did you get it to work? I always get an error when it sends it over to snap. It loads for a second and says the error message.

There's a snap lens that allows you to send fake photos.

Try and open this link with your phone it should allow you to add from camera roll. Just click on the upload icon in the lens.

Nope no watermark

Ravioli - December 21, 2020, 6:43 pm

(Dec 21, 2020 07:35 PM)mrknol Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nope no watermarkI just tried it. The only pictures that it seems it can send are really close up faces. And it's not fullscreen.

You use this yourself?

edit: it's the whole picture not faces, but again, it's not fullscreen

Nope not an E-whorer anymore but i just looked it up for you. It does the job. I have method to actually fit in the picture but it's a bit long and requires you to use your pc.

Just get Snap studio or whatever the fuck they use to create lenses (i used to use that method back then)

Figure out how make a lens with the image you want, next just upload your lens to your phone and viola you have it.

It really takes a while to fix the photo and so on.

Edit: Basically it gets you a lens with the image you want right in-front of you. There's nothing but the image when you choose that lens

Chickencam works perfectly for me

virgovenom - December 25, 2020, 2:32 pm

Can anyone help me with Chickencam? and does Prequel require jailbreak?

FeatherLive - December 25, 2020, 2:58 pm

Check out my post, I'm giving the snap live app for free (already set up so you have 0 hassle with anything - just download and tell me to whitelist you).
