Thread: Oreo, Spam, and Mayonnaise

DelTex - December 21, 2020, 10:14 pm

McDonalds has announced it will be selling a burger comprising of spam topped with Oreo cookie crumbs covered in mayonase as "part of a series of "members only" promotions to be released on Mondays in China."

Quote:McDonald's is selling a sandwich made of Spam topped with crushed Oreo cookies Monday in China in an attention-grabbing move that has raised eyebrows.

I do enjoy Oreos, mayonnaise belongs on some things, and Spam is just alright some of the time. But what do you guys think about this? Any HF members out there gotten this burger yet? (It was launched today, Dec. the 21st)

We have to put a stop to China before their terrorist food gets into our society.

Juoku - December 21, 2020, 11:31 pm

Doesn't sound tempting AT ALL lol!

I wouldn't try it tbh, I would take a bite out of someone else's but I wouldn't spend money on it...

Yeah, I can agree. Everything separate maybe. But together? Nah.

Fun fact, if you've ever eaten cod fish before (in the US) there's a 50% chance it came from China.

I think it's being sold for between $2-$3? I'd might buy it if I could just order the Oreo crumbs alone lol.

I hate even just the thought of it, but then again, who am I to complain- I like tuna on a ham and cheese burger.

I like oreo myself, but in combination with a burger it is not an interesting combination for me (at least for me)

I mean, growing up I know I put Doritos into my PB&J sandwiches at the lunch table. So something crunchy inside of a sandwich doesn't seem to foreign to me personally. But the combination of the three. Like mixing ketchup with water and Cheetos. The combo just isn't there in my mind, lol.

Yes, Doritos in combination with a sandwich or even a hot dog is a great thing??

Damn sounds complicated lol.

Most times these 'special burgers' aren't that great to be honest.

In Italy I had the Nutella burger, and believe me, it wasn't that great.

It was a little saggy and overrated to be honest.

I was expecting a full Nutella flavor along with some soft buns of the burger, but it wasn't like that, more like a standard burger with some Nutella on it.

And yeah, I really like it with pancakes, bread and etc.

Sounds like shit but who knows might be pretty good.

Not my type of food combo though.

this honestly just don't even sound appealing at all, im a big fan of oreo's, and love mayo on burgers/subs, not a fan of spam at all though so..
