

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Long Bitcoin confirmations?

Jimmie - December 22, 2020, 10:47 am

Anyone else having issues with long confirmations? I sent like $200 with a $3 fee to my coinbase account and it has been 6-7 hours and still nothing.

Yin Yang - December 22, 2020, 10:48 am

Txid? Fees that you sent?

Miners confirm based on block demand.

Jimmie - December 22, 2020, 11:16 am

(Dec 22, 2020 12:14 PM)Focus Broken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A $3 fee isn't quite specific enough - what is the feerate of your transaction measured in satoshis per vbyte? You can check here:

<https://www.blockstream.info>

Block times have been stable at 10 minutes, so confirmations are coming in at a normal rate:

35.000 sat/B

Jimmie - December 22, 2020, 11:29 am

(Dec 22, 2020 12:19 PM)Focus Broken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Next block median fee is 78 sat/vbyte right now:

There's about 4 vMB worth of transactions bidding higher than yours, as long as price volatility doesn't go crazy, you can probably expect it to be confirmed within 12 more hours.

That sucks I was trying to cash it out hopefully bitcoin doesn't crash.

Wolfy™ - December 22, 2020, 11:56 am

(Dec 22, 2020 12:29 PM)SIM-509826 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That sucks I was trying to cash it out hopefully bitcoin doesn't crash.

Lets assume, you didn't said "Bitcoin doesn't crash". ?