Define " Shared " please. It's basically access to the same account that you would be using along with other users?

I don't have any access to the drive I share with you, I can't see inside neither touch it.
How it works is you will get a assigned shared drive allowing you to use it and that drive will never go it will always be there..

is it a gsuit or edu acc? If it's a gsuit acc, is it your "company" or a hacked acc?

Nope, this is not a account. It can work on your personal account.

croycrabbtree - October 17, 2022, 6:56 am can this be used on a family admin account you've got a corporate account and you're making drives and sharing them?

StuffSneak - October 17, 2022, 10:01 am

Is this shared space? How is it different than other shared drives getting offered on many sites?
