Thread: E-Whoring requires an investment

Ebony - December 30, 2020, 10:57 pm

So, about a year and a half ago, i tried ewhoring. I download a nice pack, chose more than one platform, and began. Back then, after all my setup and trying, i made a wopping $0. I quit e-whoring. I picked e-whoring back up about 7ish months ago and have made roughly 15-20k. What's the difference?

E-whoring requires an investment. No you don't have to spend money on a pack or vcw software. I personally have never spend any money on anything of the sorts. The investment it requires is time. It requires effort. I am making this post because a new user recently messaged me about how the HF e-whoring community is scammers and that he paid for a guide and it was trash. It is obvious that the user hasn't put forth the effort and time that it takes to see growth, like any business.

I just made a new profile (my old was just banned for 30 days... whatever), and have made $115 in 2 days. Yeah, that's not much. But i did put forth the time to make at least some money. I spent at least 6 hours per day talking to customers trying to convince them to buy. The less time/effort you spend, the less chance of getting a purchase

This post excludes everyone who has automated systems. I haven't tried that yet lol

What are your opinions on this matter?

Isn't this common sense that you need to invest your time when e-whoring? It's not like you can make money while doing nothing lol

No of course. But it apprently needs to be said. The guy bought a guide for $50 and wasnt satisfied cause he didnt make money immediately love that, thats $55-60 a day. thats $1500-1800 a month. maybe thats noch MUCH, but its a very good start. dont know why people think its not much. of course you can make more. but try creating a affiliate site that brings in that much money, this would take maybe years. if you save that money a few months you can invest it in something else and make even more.

just put in the work, ew works

Exactly! Its either make msybe only $55 a day, or make nothing at all being lazy! Anything is progress. I dont care whether its $55 today or only $20. At least i know i made something and tried. (But if its only $20 i need to put in more effort)

Time equals money, I have found leads from threads on HF or in Discord groups and made $$$$ in hours. You just need to think outside the box. I don't see why other then time you need to invest $:)

Just dont buy ebooks here like most popular one for $50 and earn $0 all that sucks and not worth $1

Meow - December 31, 2020, 1:45 am

You can start with $0, but if you want to save the time, you should invest the money

Up to you which one you value more - your time or your money

Dopamine - December 31, 2020, 2:44 am

Yeah you are not obligated to invest but you will have ;

- overused ebooks
- well-know/saturated packs

You just need to looks threads here to see free overused packs with 100+ pages
