Thread: Discord server spam bot\(net?\)

MyBladeYourFace - January 4, 2021, 4:05 am

Hey! long story short my friend is admin/owner of a discord server and gets threats from other server owner so i feel like helping and attacking to the other server since we are very close friends no1 is giving threats to my homie.

So my question is if there is discord server bots to buy or setup to attack other server if this other server owner starts an unnecessary shitshow.

There's most likely some shop here that sells them, otherwise you'll need to go to sellix or some online store, then use it in combination with a raid tool.

Again, it's pointless and quite frankly, childish. if your friend doesn't like what someone says they can block them

I'm not asking how to behave in discord. It's not that you know the whole story if you are here to teach how to behave online then you don't need to comment without any real help what i asked for.
