Thread: Scam report - Do not businnes with user Tro Yeh \(uid=3615007\)

Raaaysko - January 6, 2021, 11:27 am

Hello community members!

What a 2021 for me, I've been scammed. Y'es I'm an idiot and I accept that.
I know a lot about hackforums but I wasn't a really active member, I almost forgot that there was an option called contract or something like that.

Long story short.

I made recently a thread because I was looking to someone to hack/dox a specific user for another scam

Some user contacted me but the user Tro yeh (uid=3615007 - Discord : Tro Yeh#4703) is the one who made the scam.

If someone got some information about him please send me a DM.

Conversation screens can't be posted, if someone can post for me it will be really appreciated ?

This is completely my fault and I don't think that I'll get my money back. I should have know about contracts, used a middleman or even cancel the business because he refused to use a MM. If someone can help me about this situation or get a revenge etc please SEND ME A PM (I can't send).

Again, its my fault but at least I just wanted to make this thread to warn the community and potential buyer about the situation.

Always use contracts or at least a trusted middleman and never release money until the job is done.

Have a good year everyone and thank you for reading.

Sorry to hear this buddy, perhaps add some proof and never ever skip a contract.

Thans man appreciate a lot.

I didn't pay attention to the contract its completely my fault.

I tough contract where only for ebooks and that type of stuff xd
Contracts can be used as "middleman" ?

Contracts are contracts.
A contract will never be a middleman. You can be scammed with a contract.

The best way to avoid a scam is to hire a middleman which you can add in the contract.

There's a lot of good MMs here.
Kill Joy mm'ed more than $700 in BTC for me.

You can hire a mm right there : Service Offerings

Next time do not forget to check if the guy have Open Disputes on his profile before doing ANY deals.

It's not funny + luckily for you I'm not able to give negative rep.

Hello,

I don't think so. I sent my discord to him in private, he added me.

flavoral - January 6, 2021, 2:36 pm

Even though this isn't a valid report due to the fact there's no contract between you too.

I will bite, post screenshots of any and all conversations you had with him on HF and off-site. Post a video showing his discord, and his discord tag, and discord ID too.

Hello,

I can't post link, image and video since I don't have 50 posts currently. I can send to anyone all the conversations and any info about his discord.

upload all the image into 1 <https://imgur.com/upload> album, and upload the video somewhere.

When linking them, don't post the links like "https://youtube.com" but do it as "youtube.com" it should work.

Okay, thank you a lot for your investment.

Will update the thread as soon I wake up.

It's messy but you'll still able to see what is going on.

Yes again it's my fault I acted like an idiot but I was desesperated to get a solution to get my shit back.

I would like to know in the same occasion if people who are scamming will get nothing since no contract have been made ?

Even you have contract, you won't get your money back.

The bright side will be the negative effect on his account once you post your feedback on his business ratings.

Hello, thank you for your information.
What are the point of making contracts then ?

Just like in real life, it doesn't guarantee that you will get anything that you've loss.
It is what it is, a contract. A proof that you had transaction with someone.

If they fail to give what is written, then you can make a deal dispute and give them a negative feedback.

Rmdy

Oh okay I understand better now.
Thank you for all the information man!

Hello, I already gave you this information in PM.
$100 BTC for a discord exploit, this amount is a proof of the scam BTW.

This entire thread is useless, and so are you. If you listened to any of the numerous warnings on signup about contracts, you could have made an actually useful post called a deal dispute, but no, instead you chose not to read anything...

BTW if the thread is useless you do not need to comment (just to say something useless).

Previous people have been able to teach me some things/informations about contracts and general.

Even some members went on discord to discuss and teach me some things.

Again you don't need to answer I don't want to further discuss with you and thank you for the -5 neg. I don't care.

I'm happy to alert the community about a scammer.
