Thread: UPDATE: Neighbor crashed into my Mustang

debug - January 7, 2021, 2:27 pm

After 2.5 weeks since my neighbor hit my car, it's finally fixed. If you are seeing this thread for the first time, read below the line!

Updated Picture

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

All in all the damage was $3,700. I had to bring it back after it was fixed because the door panel was not working, but it's all gucci now. Glad to have my baby back!

Few nights ago my neighbor crashed into my baby...

I was sitting on my computer doing my thing, when I heard a loud pop and then an alarm. I was like, huh, that sure sounds alot like my car alarm. It was.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Fortunately she came right over and apologized, and her insurance is covering the damage in full. Total damage was almost $4,000. Should be getting her back sometime next week.

Just glad no one was hurt, but damn she must have been boolin out her drive way.

You have no idea the extent of how bad drivers can truly be. Especially Women and Older People piss me off so much on the road.

I have so many stories of just shit that would blow your minds from my job, in which driving is a main aspect.

SecureOp - January 7, 2021, 2:38 pm

Damn man, that must have gutted you on first sight. At least the driver was upfront rather than a hit and run..

StarZ - January 7, 2021, 2:40 pm

Nice whip. Make sure to go for diminished value aswell.

Glad you're OK and it's not a total loss!

Fortunately she didn't hit the door too badly or the repair would have taken much longer.

Maybe a drunk driver, or she has at practice driving or the other car has defect, or the neighbour is just jealous of the mustang so she hit it.
