Thread: Bad job interview

shakur123 - January 7, 2021, 6:18 pm

Im really sad i just finished an interview from my dream job and it went like shit, i know its not the end of the world but i couldnt help to feel bad about it

Any advice on what do you do to cheer you up?

In what way did it go back? Typically when an interview goes bad I find it has nothing to do with the interviewee and everything to do with the interviewer.

I didnt respond well to the questions, i felt like i wasnt on point with the answers and just say random nonsense "facts".

It was 4 different persons making questions in the interview, it was my first one on zoom and well in resume it went like shit

Do you think it was more an issue of confidence or do you think that it was knowledge based? Also by the way, the fact you even got an interview is a great sign. That just means it's only a matter of time until you get hired. They must have liked something about you to have proceeded with an interview.

Sounds like you were a bit nervous. I'm sure they'll understand, giving that it was 4 people asking, plus over a Zoom call. Keep your head up, king.

So sorry to hear that, but the best thing you can do is keep your head up! Keep in mind that you made it far enough to even GET a interview. I'm sure there are more job opportunities just like it, just keep trying!

Get a bag of cocaine and get your friends over for beers was this your first real job interview? For me, I still suck at interviews but learned that connections and referrals get you hired more than anything else. :/

ScorpionX - January 8, 2021, 12:54 am

Keep knocking. A door will be opened sooner than you realize. I wish you well in your endeavors.

False King - January 8, 2021, 1:12 am

You can't ace them all, my man. Better luck next time, interviewing over Zoom with 4 people defo is a weird way of doing an interview. Can fully imagine how that threw you off your game.

Blockonome - January 8, 2021, 1:46 am

Shakur, if you ever need to become more confident, let me know, that is something I can help you with!

Utility - January 8, 2021, 10:09 am

Was it your first serious interview?

Juoku - January 8, 2021, 10:17 am

For every door that closes there are a thousand new ones that open.

Don't take it hard, it sucks to finish an interview when you feel you blew it but there's nothing you can do now, what I would recommend is you remember the questions you were asked and think hard on what you would've answered if you could prepare, we learn a lot more from our failures than our victories, use it to get better and have better answers for your next interview!

Good luck mate and I hope you'll find an awesome job you'll enjoy!

Go back in there and urinate on the desk to assert dominance.
