Inspect element is exactly as to what it says, "Inspect" you cannot change any actual values and change them for other devices.

I'd maybe just do the test next time ?

The things we see on the forum, No offense to anyone but why is these things even a question?

I've cheated my way through multiple tests and Avoid college like the plague, Kids my age are quite stupid especially college goers.

True, I could easily pass a test just by paying attention. Exploiting a website takes too long and I could care less to do so. I exploited my teachers computer and gained access to grading once so I could do stuff from home or on the way to my Job.

I made it look legit with 0 chance they could find out that the grades were off.

But I could do the work fine, I was too smart for 99% of it and I got bored easily so the let me go with 18 of 22 credits. I graduated later but was with the same class. I had to finish very quickly or I faced 90 days in county. I passed without an issue 2hrs before court.

100 questions 60 mins. There are some exams where the time limit is/was(no one gives online tests anymore now here) like 1 question 1 minute. But how are you still doing the exams online? Where I live it is done physical.
