Thread: Bytes History - Filter by username

Exalted - January 17, 2021, 12:35 pm

A small suggestion, add a username filter on the ?ytes History page. Just like the username selector on the Search page.

Quick image example:

That would be a nice addition.

They also need to fix the search queries in hackuman

Yeah would be pretty cool to sort received donations/ql's on username.

I support this suggestion!

Why though? What's the purpose of knowing another user's bytes history. Genuinely curious.

It's just an extra filter on the existing page, makes it easier to search for specific entries. Maybe for yourself, or on another users page.

For the ones raking up thousands of Bytes, I could see this be an useful asset.
