Thread: How do you manage multiple Kik accounts, if you lose chat logs when you log out

Crabbe22 - January 19, 2021, 7:11 am

So this is a thing that is giving me troubles. Is there a way to not lose chat logs after you log out of kik? I have multiple accounts for different ewhore packs, and as you know when you log out you lose all the chat logs. I wouldn't worry that much about that but do you also lose the guys who have contacted you and you haven't accepted the chat yet? I think so. Anyway how do you deal with that?

For anyone that will be saying to switch to something else kik is still profitable imho, between usual traffic sites and Sugar daddy sites

Use emulators on your Desktop or some modded kik version that has this feature. (If there is any, but I remember using one)

You can use a Android emulator then use multiple instances within once you log out you are screwed. Only the friend requests get deleted, all your active chats remain.

Memu has a multiple instance manager that allows you to run multiple versions of the emulator. So you can have as many as your computer can handle.
