Thread: Did anyone into BCH ?

SIM-1866423 - January 27, 2021, 9:02 am

I know all hype for BCH is just gone after launch, but wondering if anyone still believe in BCH ? Almost all platforms supporting BCH for payment, i am not even using BTC anymore because of fee problem. But BCH fee always like 0.01 or something like that, i cant understand why price low that much.

Me neither. I mean it is not the best crypto in my opinion, but I also used it a lot lately, due to the fees.

BCH will forever be a terrible scam created and orchestrated by Roger Ver. Do not fall for BCH or BSV, they are fake Bitcoin and will never amount to anything in the long run despite short term trading.

One does not simply into BCH.

I will leave after some quick profit then ??????

From my point of view BCH was a market manipulation but it still has a chance to do a big pump as is still BCH is being spreaded a lot by Roger Ver to physical merchants over the world, it might be the fastest and reliable coin to buy physical stuff so keep an eye on news about BCH, forget BSV.

Roger shot himself in the foot with all the propaganda and his efforts to sabotage Bitcoin. I am sure there are many people who like the use case of Bitcoin Cash but won't invest in it due to its past.

When you think about it, motivation for creation of Bitcoin Cash was purely for profit and to retain power by a select few individuals like Roger, Jihan, CSW, and the companies that partnered with them in early days.

I would rather use LN or a different currency like Monero, Litecoin, or Dogecoin over BCH.

I agree but then again it's hard to argue against Bitcoin Cash adoption and fees at a penny with nearly instant confirmations. So even if they are "fake Bitcoin" they function better for the moment. I wrote about Bitcoin Cash a couple weeks ago similar to what OP is saying.

Short-term I see a lot of upside potential for Bitcoin Cash as an investment.

Nano does that better than BCH for no fees and it's actually instant. There are a million coins that could replace the only thing BCH is doing well.

I wouldn't recommend investing in BCH

it's an amazing coin for actually paying for things because of its very small transaction fee

I do use it for those reasons

however if you check their reddit the users mostly just attack bitcoin and talk shit about it. there's just lots of negativity with this coin

Zamper - January 29, 2021, 1:13 am

I personally bought some BCH, if market goes bullish I don't see why BCH cannot peak an new ath

BalleJatta - January 29, 2021, 11:58 am

Did bought some bcash with spare money when omni posted at around ~520 so in bit of underwater, but I am sure there will be some sort of pump sooner or later

I hold a nice stack myself. Kim dotcom (megaupload) said he was going to help it reach new heights this year

Agreed, I've never used Nano, just giving an example of a coin that easily replicates and outperforms the one single thing that BCH is doing well.
