Thread: any news regarding SiaCoin?

LuxuryModelNetwork - January 29, 2021, 3:54 am

I noticed siacoin was having a remarkable uptrend today, is this all because of what has happened in the past 24 hrs which is why a lot of money is coming into the space?

or is there some news I missed?

At this point my rule is:

If Sia is moving... then it has nothing to actually do with Sia. Lol

Yea sure fucking einstein idiot.

@OP Why wouldn't it move? It's one of the few storage coins who is still doing their job, my sack got doubled already.

I am not saying it doesn't have any use case, but there haven't been any major news (from what i can see and gather), usually, when Sia gets a large upswing like this it's due to some news or development, which this time does not seem to be the case. but then again right now it's the wild west due to the past 1-2 days activity in stocks and crypto.

Exactly you already answer your question yourself.

1. It has a function.
2. Its still relevant till this day.
3. Crypto is going wild, picking up anything that stood relevant.

I will be checking this out for most of the crypto currencies are getting bigger.

Siacoin is only moving because of current events. It's a shitcoin.

No real movement prior to the last few days w/stock hype. You're right on the money. @Silence is just a retard.

Relevant? I think not. I would like to see some stats on adoption and the users of it's storage platform.

Crypto is going wild, picking up anything on it's way up*

You're flipping burgers. Look at your logic. The spike has nothing to do with renewed interest or advancements in Siacoin. You're literally delusional, and yes, very broke.

Siacoin will forever be trash, it's going nowhere, just like you.

Huge fake volume imho. There is not $480 million worth of trading in the past 24 hours. That's more than their $350 million market cap. It's such bullshit.
