Thread: Do you say browse or surf ?

Yoda_warrior - January 30, 2021, 3:55 am

Do you use the term "browse" or "surf" ?

E.G : I browse HF/I surf HF

Explain which one you use and why ? ?

Personally I use "browse" since i find "surf" a bit ... like if it's risky or what

Caretaker - January 30, 2021, 3:56 am

I use browse, surf sounds a bit corny tbh.

Haha nice to see another browser ?

Exalted - January 30, 2021, 4:01 am

I surf the web, but I browse HackForums.

? Complex! Seems fair tho

Features - January 30, 2021, 4:04 am

I of course use "browse" surf seems a bit weird but im sure I used that term one time or another.

Browsers OP! ???

HEISENPUG - January 30, 2021, 4:17 am

Ill be honest ive never heard someone call it surfing the web before. I just say im gonna go look something up online

For real ? My friends all use surf ?

Pass Candy - January 30, 2021, 5:23 am

I use the term browse. Never used the term surf.

Fiend - January 30, 2021, 7:01 am

I'm from the UK so i use the term Browse frequently

Juoku - January 30, 2021, 7:29 am

Browse, always browse ;)

I don't remember when or if I ever said surf the web but I'm sure I've used it once lol

guardian - January 30, 2021, 7:56 am

Usually browse, maybe every now and then I say surf, but 90% of the time I use the term browse

ZeroOne - January 31, 2021, 5:25 am

I normally use the term, "Browse" to express my activity on the internet but I do recall using, "Surf", a few times before in the past.

LoremIpsum - January 31, 2021, 5:28 am

I browse through the pages of the internet, seeking out those who spark my interests.

Surf sounds like surfing the waves, which sounds in my opinion as going fast and smooth over the internet like a YouTube playlist.

Can't explain it any better why I choose browse.

dBusta - January 31, 2021, 12:33 pm

Depends on the situation . I am agree with the : Surf the web and browse the forum :D :D

Koyote - January 31, 2021, 12:33 pm

I've picked both in this poll because when I asked myself the question, I actually don't know, and I can see myself saying either. I feel like browse is probably more common, but now I don't know what I know.

SIM-353284 - January 31, 2021, 5:26 pm

Surfing the web cause ima cool dude like that

Carrot - January 31, 2021, 5:28 pm

browse

surf sounds american, and im not american, so i browse the interwebz

Nate - January 31, 2021, 11:46 pm

I've always said browse, sometimes surf when im just fucking around

Browse... I haven't used "surf" since the 90s! And even then, it was an odd term I feel like. Though I do have a vivid memory of my mother telling me we'd surf the web after I got home from school one day. This would've been in the early 90s, lol.

jecoylecroy - February 1, 2021, 7:06 pm

I am always using browse instead of surf for no reason. Here in my county surf is a detergent brand. :)

Proof - February 1, 2021, 7:27 pm

I say browse, not sure I've ever consistently used "surfing"

A + - February 1, 2021, 8:00 pm

I don't use either. I'm either "On the Internet", or, "Checking HF".

Shrooms - February 1, 2021, 8:33 pm

I am so happy no one has voted Surf yet, this brings my faith back to humanity.

Bullup - February 1, 2021, 11:45 pm

I browse as well :) I'm also calling it a browser so that's maybe why. If i tell some people to surf they mostly don't understand.

HOMODIN - February 1, 2021, 11:51 pm

I brows the web but the boomers in my family (and their friends) surf the web so when I tell them what and how to do then I use "surf".

I thing the word on hf is lurking.

ghostboy - February 3, 2021, 12:56 am to be honest i dont say either haha, but both if anything
