Thread: Minecraft | Looking for builders

Shrooms - February 5, 2021, 3:29 am

Hello HF, I am currently developing a server based on the popular game Escape From Tarkov. I am currently working alone, but am in a partnership with a company that is providing hosting and other things for free.

Right now I'm fine developing the server myself but I cannot build to save my life. So I am here to ask.

Currently there will be no pay rate, but we can discuss this further as the server gets more popular.

If you're interested leave a post below with any previous experience you have. Thank you

I loved playing minecraft, especially building.

Also have all the time in the world.

I'm not interested in any payrate, but a one time fee (doesn't have to be much) is what I would ask (what can I say... im broke XD)

I could provide some recent builds too, if needed to show proof of skill :D

I'd like to see your previous builds, and I wouldn't pay you until the work was completed or at least some sort of work had been done. Simply because I have no idea who you are and you're new here

Sure, sending now. I'm just about to go to bed so if I don't reply that's why.
