Thread: Dallas weather I I ran over black ice for the first time

Welp if you haven't been paying attention to the news DFW area has been getting hit hard with cold weather and ice/wetness resulting in black ice, and for those who don't know what black ice is. It's ice that blends into the pavement so you don't know you've hit until your tires start to glide like its being pushed by a ghost.

Lucky for me i didn't hit anything, I was on my way to work for Pepsi as a merch hitting a store at 5am, slammed my car into park cause my brakes went balls on me, and was scared to slam my E-Brake cause i didn't wanna fuck up my car

All in all car is fine just now need a serious aligement

Left 6 dead and 136 cars destroyed

Now Monday it's going to be negative -2 so I expect worse is to come

Man that's crazy, glad you're okay. You can't even see it on the road in the replay really so goes to show you how hidden it is.

Glad you're okay though.

I live near houston tx and I heard about this earlier today. They are shutting the city down for a few days because of how bad it will be iced over

Thanks, man I showed my wife and she watched it 10 times and still couldn't see it, neither could I, it just happens so fast, and BOOM! your sliding and gliding outa of control. I know Monday over here is going to be trash, it's supposed to snow Sunday/Saturday then freeze over Monday morning I pray Pepsi to call it a day and let us stay home I can't do this anymore.

Its funny, because the city of dallas or any DFW area should of put sand out ahead of time or spits of wood etc something

Nothing new, learn to drive in freezing weather.
We get this everyday here in Ohio.

Just another day in winter time for us.

Glad you're okay, OP. The only ice we get over here is black ice, our streets are never ready for the winter.
