Thread: Rate my portfolio

Fadó - February 17, 2021, 8:34 am

After taking a break from graphic design for around a year, I've decided to upload a portfolio in an attempt to make some money on the side. Would love some feedback. I plan on creating an instagram and offering my services on here soon.

Some great pieces in there. Love the minimalistic feel to the layout of the portfolio and to the artwork produced.

Really nice touch for adding video elements to the pieces as well.

Good overall 360° degrees coverage of the designs, implementation into real-life scenarios like office stationary etc.

Would love to collab at some point if you're down. I'm trying to build my own portfolio and I'm actually based quite close to you.

Let me know if you're interested as I find it quite motivating being able to ping ideas off of another designer and get feedback.

Thanks for the feedback! Send me on some of your work when you get the chance and I'll have a look.

Love how seamless the website design goes with your work.

Everything is clean and professional, wish you luck with this business!

I do like it, as in the content and the way it's presented. However, that circle thing, I'm sure that I have seen it somewhere before, if not that exact same thing then just something that has been done the same way and looks almost the same.

Keep it up tho, you'll get places with that :)

Thanks man. Yes it is used in Japanese design quite a bit. I didn't upload the full process for that project, but I was putting a Japanese twist on an Irish brand. There are loads of different designs for the enso as it is known, but they are a similar to each other.

Simple and clean. I just don't like grey. If I were you I would change it to black but overall it looks great

Doctor. - April 27, 2021, 12:53 pm

I see you really like using white haha me too, same color as cocaine :D

Just took a quick peek at some of these, most of them look good. On your branding guide for South East Greenway the typeface changes on a few of the pages from the regular sans-serif you were using. Specifically on the "Color Palette" and "Pattern" pages.

Very professional. Do you do web design or web app element design?

Good luck w/ sales! I'm sure you'll do well!

Thanks very much. I'm more of a brand designer but I can do a bit of everything.
