IgniteFX - February 20, 2021, 2:01 am

Good morning everyone, well it's evening here in the UK.

I'm posting here as I used to frequent this forum a lot when I was younger, and it definitely helped me on my way learning about marketing, the internet and such.

I'm a somewhat successful entrepreneur focusing mainly on my marketing agency, and property for the last few years. I've always been a trader "part-time".

I've fortunately been able to take a bit of a step back from my daily goings-on in the running of my businesses thanks to Staff and around 4 months ago, I realised just how many of my friends had been scammed by the "Instagram Traders" and being an entrepreneur I have the "I could do that" syndrome and decided to set out to make a decent Forex Education site without the scam.

Now, I am a decent trader but I'm not knowledgeable enough to write everything down or create a course 'worthwhile' so I hired people to do it for me.

137+ Videos Animated, Voice Overed, Researched.

3 In-depth PDFs.

6 Market Research Videos EVERY DAY.

And a fair bit of money later.....

Ignite Trading Academy was launched.

We've had great success and are nearing over 1500 members in under 3 months, I've hired full-time staff to come onboard to reply to people in the group chats and more, as well as recently having the website redone (ignore the dummy text on there atm, it'll be fixed tomorrow)

We have even put in an offer for some physical premises where we will be having local people in to learn to trade, see what we do etc (Once lockdown is over anyway)

We do have a signals group, however, it isn't like what you'd be used to when most of those guys have already gotten you to sign up to BDSWISS or their broker they make a commission on and send you shit trades because they make even more money on the volume you trade! No sir, that is not us.

Every trade we send will either be a trade I've taken myself or one of the team. This means that whether we are having a good day, or a bad day as they do happen... We will be in the same boat as you! We also don't spam trades, realistically a decent trader wouldn't be doing 15-20 trades a day like some groups would lead you to believe.

The best feedback I can get is by coming onto a forum like this, with perhaps people who have definitely heard of Forex and probably encountered the scam side of it too and get your opinion.

If you will HONESTLY go through the course, front to back, start to finish and be able to give me decent feedback then message me and I'll give you free access for life and you can even join the signals and VIP chat too, absolutely free.

Please remember the current website is being updated so ignore some text that doesn't make sense the video side is working fine, message me first and I'll send you register link and you can tell me once done and we'll get you upgraded.

I'm sorry if I am not allowed to post something like this with a new account, if its an issue I'll remove.

P.S.

Just so you know I'm serious about the website here is a car I had wrapped to advertise the website, next to one of my other cars (Lamborghini Huracan)

Disclaimer the cars have come from years of hard work in the property game as well as other avenues including forex, it was night some overnight wins on Forex so don't think that.
