Thread: getting hit with Indian call center spam to my phone

unknown321 - February 26, 2021, 1:38 pm

I just received the 5th phone call today someone using an endless amount of phone numbers and not leaving a message. Anyone know how i can lookup the phone number or a good program to use to block them. The numbers are rotating so its never the same.

It happens to everyone, it's not just you.

Don't pickup, and if you do just pretend you're a pizza place and because they're so retarded they'll take your number off the list.

"Captain hook's pizza and abortions yesterdays loss is todays sauce, how can I help you?"

They will take you off the list and do it fast

I don't think this would work because that's just confirming you're a real person. The amount of people who use that line, I'm sure they've all heard it before and all that tells them is that you're a real person on a real mobile number True lol was just a joke. The best thing to do is to probably just let the calls ring out. If you don't answer enough of them you will probably be taken off the list eventually.

I haven't gotten a phone call from a tele marketer in years. I think Canada passed a law banning it a few years back.

Hey by chance did they leave voicemails every time? I had the smae shit but there was an automated message saying " Your iCloud has a virus, please call us at 312-xxx-blah to help repair it"

THEY CALLED LIKE 25 TIMES LMAO
