Thread: Digital Green Pass to be proposed \(Vaccination Passport\)

Exalted - March 1, 2021, 6:15 am

Ursula von der Leyen (President of the European Commission) announced on Twitter a few hours ago that they're going to propose a "Digital Green Pass", basically a vaccination passport.

What are your thoughts on this? Ursula claims: "It will respect data protection, security & privacy", but I am highly sceptical of any IT project led by any government.

Are you for or against such a vaccination passport?

Sounds like a way to track a person for sure.

Yep, I'm quite concerned about privacy. I wonder how this proposal will work out; we'll see it soon enough when more details are released.

It doesn't really make sense since the vaccine isn't 100% so doesn't offer 100% safety. Also, if you had the coronavirus you're technically immune so why wouldn't that count but a vaccine would? All seems unnecessary.

Correct, the vaccines don't offer 100%; the currently available vaccines offer more like ~66% to ~90% if I recall correctly. The immune thing isn't guaranteed either; that varies a lot too.

Unnecessary, privacy invading, and most likely insecure.

Cuffs for sure; I think we're on season 84 by now; maybe we're already past that. I can't keep up.

I'll rewatch it when I get some time.

vaccines doesnt make you immune to said disease/virus but makes it harder for you to get it, its not guaranteed once you take the vaccine you will have immunity over it.

Welcome to the New World Order. We went from the scare of Terrorism to the scare of Viruses. We have lost our privacy in the name of health and security. It's a lie and a shame that this is what it has come to.

If this continues I may never travel again. I refuse to get the vaccine and I am not going to take any test for travel purposes. They can go fugg themselves.

Tjm - March 4, 2021, 11:30 am

That's too far, I received the vaccine since I have bad asthma and other health issues but the whole thing is being dragged out. Everyday I see something on a new variant of COVID and how vaccines might not be as effective...it's like ok fuck it just let us live our lives then if it's going to be one thing after another. Humanity has survived far worse during times where medicine wasn't exactly science.

Yeah kinda like ID's, Passports, Social Media, Internet Browsing cookies, Every single paperwork u have to make throughout your lifetime, How is this any different lol webdev77 - March 4, 2021, 1:09 pm

What could you possibly have to worry about? It is not like they will create a giant database of all resident's medical records, share them between countries, track your travel history, and use that information to tell you to be on what is effectively house arrest when the government decides what your health status is right? Right? Yeah... lol.

Yeah I agree. Hopefully this stuff fizzles out.

Yeah just fugg the fact where you are FORCED to take a vaccine so you could move around and travel freely. No big reason, it's just this flu thing that's worrying us that's all. Take it for the safety of your elders!

We care about you!

wonder what it could be?

a credit card ID card saying vaccinated? similar to driving license?
a page full stamp in current passport (if own a paper book one?)

how easy will someone be able to fake the doc for it? Imma say it'll be somewhat simple?

NoSuchAgency - March 7, 2021, 6:23 pm

Seems like we really need to take this vaccine, this 98% survival rate sure is intimidating.

ShockStatik - March 9, 2021, 5:14 pm

I don't get why they're trying to force this on everyone. If you're scared, get the vaccine. If you don't want it, then run the risk of getting COVID. End of story. This shit is getting ridiculous. Shouldn't of even been this long of a quarantine if the people in power just had better judgement. How are you going to lock down the states and allow people to go to grocery stores and shit where they're able to spread it. Half the protocols used in these stores don't make sense. I went into Publix (Supermarket) the other day and they have plastic on the keypad. How is that going to prevent spread when I just used the same plastic on the keypad the person before me did? Wtf?

It truly is a shame. I will never agree to such as passport in my life, I like my privacy protected. I do consider taking one of the available vaccines, but only once we're stabilized, but only because I am in a risk group. Why do you refuse to take it if I may ask?

Agreed. Let the people make their own decision, we'll see how it goes. I don't like governments forcing this kind of privacy-invading stuff on us in the name of viruses.

Phone app with unique QR code? That's what the Netherlands is going to do. I don't know, but something digital at least.

You're right, lol. I don't like these lockdowns either. It doesn't make sense anymore, not that it has for a long time. The current protocols are a joke and need to change.

Oh my, you

How does that work for elderly, or people without phones? do they have a paper system?

Got me there. Maybe paper test results with a QR/stamp, and vaccination paper with a QR/stamp (in passport) or a separate card?
