Just learning more about the forum and was hoping to see a Powershell section.

Powershell is a very powerful language for Microsoft / Windows / 365 automation and would be great to interpret on a technical forum.

PowerShell has many advantages and those that use it in their daily work lifestyle like myself would (i'd hope) to have a section on it in the Code section.

Correct me If I'm wrong but I believe PowerShell falls under Command Line Interpreters? At least this is what a majority of google results tells me :)

You would be correct. That is the forum for all things of that general nature.
