Thread: Discord Token Grabber from Link

Stevo47 - March 15, 2021, 12:19 am

I have seen fake discord.gift links which look completely normal, and when clicked it makes you join a server, and can make you join any server in the future until you change your password; so I imagine this is a token grabber. However I cannot find anything on how to get someone's token from a link without them downloading and running a program, anyone know how to do so?

This is not possible and they are not grabbing your token(what I suspect) discord bots can be give. Permissions to join servers for you. But this usually would ask for a confirmation which is kinda weird. But it is not possible by just opening a link to get token grabbed, atleast I don't know of any.

idk, but I know how you can get your own discord token-

- > First open the inspect element (Ctrl + Shift + i)
- > Secondly, Go to Application
- > Thirdly, Go to local storage, inside it scroll down and where space is left in key section type token and reload the page. Keep an eye besides token and while discord is reloading you will get your token and you can copy it too!
