

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Getting an image through element id

requiredhq - March 15, 2021, 6:37 am

Call it a stupid fucking project because it is one.

I want to get an image from a website through it's id.

Within the id it has a src="Image I want"

As shown here,

```
Code
Code Dim omg = "screenshot-image" label1.text = WebBrowser1.Document.GetElementById(omg).GetAttribute("scr")
I can't understand why it's pulling up nothing for the scr
```

requiredhq - March 15, 2021, 7:19 am

(Mar 15, 2021 06:54 AM)Davkul Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think this is the right section honestly, but anyhow, in the last part of the code you typed "scr" instead of "src", perhaps that is your issue. Dude wow, your right. Thanks. Guess coding while tired can do that It's a visual basic vids, anyway, problem solved! I continue the adventure

The - March 15, 2021, 7:31 am

(Mar 15, 2021 06:54 AM)Davkul Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think this is the right section honestly, but anyhow, in the last part of the code you typed "scr" instead of "src", perhaps that is your issue.
Dim omg = "screenshot-image"

That looks like Visual Basic to me.