Do it or no balls.

This is discussion about an investment strategy.

Hope it doesn't go through your hand and stab your foot for real though keep in mind i have no idea what im talking about, but oil crashed on fake useless speculative garbage, china's buying (more) oil from iran now and all the big superpowers are beating the drums of war, and in war demand for oil goes up because everyone is paranoid about their trade partners and oil is needed for war.

but don't take my advice, i have absolutely no idea what im talking about What? What countries do you speak of? I don't think any, let alone all superpowers are beating the drums of war?

what exchange do you use to buy this? the exchanges i use dont allow retail investors to purchase

i am of the same opinions as you regarding superpowers beating the drums of war
