How is it a cash grab? Everyone here either offers the builder or just the bin, for the lucky ones that have builder then awesome to them. But everything is in that bin so there is no need to have the builder. You crpyt it and spread it. No need to recreate it. You have a custom bin with a name in it, sure ill do it. You dont need see me coming over to your overly priced RAT setup and giving my 2 cents now do you ? No .

In the web-based client, will I be able to see every computer that is running the miner (much like a bot where you can see all your connections)? Is there a way to update the miner (perhaps a refud) and then run the updated version on all current infections? Addiotnally, is the proxy build into the .exe miner build, or will we have to integrate our xmrrig-proxy? Thank you!

What happens if something happens to you or your server goes down? Will the miner still function? If not, is there a way to avoid this?
