Hello HF,

With passing years and days, I lost too much in my life. It was like bad luck was running behind me. I lost my father, then I met with an accident and many small things kept happening that made me feel depressed.

But finally I have a good news to share. I am getting married this month. Date is not decided yet but any time this month. Her parents are here and will leave in first week of May. Will update you guys very soon more on this.
