Long story short. I got sick and had to stay in hospital for 3 months.

I had a great server cumminty and had to transfer ownership to a friend, who turned on me and then banned me from my own server.

Is there someone out there who can either hack this guys discord. i might have his mail used and i have his name.

Willing to pay!

Long story short, this makes no sense.

You know you can give someone admin rights, right?

Should've done that instead of transferring ownership.

Mistakes where made, i left the server like removed the server so i didn't get people messaging me.

I think I can help you with that Discord problem. I once got admin privileges by social engineering. I can try to do it again. It'll only work if he falls for it though
