Anyone got their buddies on HF yet?

Ever since the pandemic started all my friends started looking for ways to make money from home & monetize online

Showed a couple of them about ewhoring & hf and some of them are doing even better than me ?

I didn't bring any IRL friends here but I did meet people who became my IRL friends. ?

Regulus - April 13, 2021, 8:22 am

I made one IRL friend sign up on here like back in 2015 while we were drunk.
He trolled and got banned within 1 day lol.

I feel that, I've met lots of HF members that are actually in my City. Haven't really met up with anyone big from the forum yet though lol..

My IRL persona is considerably different than who I am on HF, so... not likely.

All of my friends have very bad English knowledge and have no plans in improving it, so yeah :D I'm the only one who's active in online communities.

I don't really know anyone IRL that would be interested in the topics discussed here so I don't really invite IRL friends here.

One of my friends has taken a high interest in crypto but is very misguided, following what influencers tell him to invest in. I considered having this friend make an account on HF to help learn about crypto but also don't want my trust scan to be fucked up if he sign in to hf on my internet.

Honestly with the Crypto wave I would expect more people to be signing up on HF. You should still get your friend to join and just let him know to not be logged in at your house ?

popZmoke - April 13, 2021, 11:13 am

Hellnah lol, my irl friends don't even know how a pc works lol

I would not pass this site on to irl friends no way. I was brought here by an online friend though. He doesn't use this forum anymore though.

I subscribe to that sentiment a grand total of 100%.

Lmfao I guess ewhoring will never be saturated, shits nasty imo but i guess some people are good at acting like chicks when they see nasty chodes.

I have a few buddies who know of the forum but I can't imagine they know what it's like here.
