Thread that deal originated from:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?pid=60710671#pid60710671>

Basically, I was looking for someone who could develop an application to generate specific in-game items (see above thread).

Encrypted™ sent me several DMs on-site (see screenshots) and we agreed on $500 payment via BTC, half up front and half after testing/completion. The project would be completed in a week. Great.

Ultimately the conversation was moved to Discord because it was easier to communicate (see screenshots).

What happened afterwards was slightly unexpected. New fees kept popping up - felt as if it was always something additional (which is fine, I get it, things can change) and the timeframe kept being pushed back.

Then, there was no testing to be done. The tool was completed, but he required more money to release it.

Payments were sent, then he started to disappear and become less responsive. All of a sudden, payments magically 'didn't show up,' he 'wasn't home' and he admitted to ghosting me because he was 'embarrassed'.

Now here I am 2 weeks later, out nearly $1100 (which isn't the issue here), which is more than double the budget we agreed on.

At first, I didn't know about the contract system. When I found out, I generated a contract which has since expired because he did not accept it.

Additionally, he seemed reputable - had a dozen completed contracts, no red flags that I saw. He also used his deal with Nebula Sunrise as clout that he was trustworthy because they're a huge member on the site.

My issue here is that this user seemed to have taken advantage of a new user, and deliberately mislead and scam. Either that or he got in over his head and wasn't able to do what he originally promised. I'm not going to sit in silence because I'm a 'new' user.

Now, whatever happened happened, and I can't do anything about it.

But for those considering future deals with this user, operate with caution because this behavior is extremely suspect.

Bro his messages are such red flags you're going to get taken advantage of so often if you actually sent someone like that money. You definitely got scammed.

Just for the record also. Having a deal with a reputable Admin means less than nothing.

Yeah, it was stupid of me and that's on me, but I can't do anything about it now.

All I can do is warn others.

Any reply to this? I saw it didn't have a contract, but by the looks of it you just blatantly used this new users lack of forum knowledge to scam him.

Topgun1991 - April 23, 2021, 4:36 pm

Yes Dont make a Contract with him!.
And dont send them Bitcoins, he Scam you!.

Looks like he's gone inactive.

Hoping he doesn't scam anyone else.

Where is the contract you two agreed to?

Dealing on HF without a contract can and has Resulted in both parties getting banned or Accounts being closed.

Please read the Help Docs for you can find all the answers to your questions if he scams you open a dispute with a scam report to get the scammer closed and keep him from scamming more new people.

OP Has tons of proof and payment addresses as proof but he shouldn't of thrown so much money around for nothing in return.

mb123213 - June 15, 2021, 6:52 am

I posted tons of proof that he was a scammer and why are people still doing deals with him?

I'm confused.
