Post your tips and tricks here.

Mainly where do you go to get the earliest updates on a new coin, how do you know it's verified. I see these gains with .000000001 as the point it's at by the time I get to them, but really I need to get in by .0000000001 (9zeros vs 8 zeros, 10x by the time everyone's on the band wagon and get out)

Also when there is a 7day 800% increase, or 3,000% or whatever it is... When I look at the 24hr marker a lot of them are -50%...

So with saying that do they fluctuate for a few weeks and I can hold and dump? Or am I supposed to get rid of it before the seemingly nonstopping down trend?

I think the last thing stated was about the rug being pulled out from under you type of original investor/pumper then split.

Post your tips and tricks and if someone wants a certain format we can build this.
