Let me know what you think about it.

Forensic - April 22, 2021, 3:09 am

I don't really see a reason why it will hit $1 in the near future

he won't, and it won't reach 1$ not this month and not this bull market, doge was already priced and had it top at $0.45 day before 4/20

Smart people are here to dump on you not for pump.

Phobix - April 22, 2021, 3:49 am

What? It's meme potential has come and gone.

Recon12345 - April 22, 2021, 3:59 am

Next bull run maybe. Unless this is the super cycle ofc.

Envy - April 22, 2021, 4:03 am

I love how Musk makes a tweet and makes the world go nuts.

Do people not understand this coin has no purpose? It's literally designed in such way it will never have a purpose, as intended by the creators. Sure yes, Dogecoin can be accepted... but in the end it's placebo for your money.

It is useless, and you're better off actually researching worthwhile investments, NFT's, DeFi's, ICO's, etc...

Unless you're holding a GENEROUS amount of Doge you are in no way benefiting from price inflation of the coin.

TakeltDown - April 22, 2021, 4:06 am

The more important question is - what if the real doge dies?

PokeBong - April 22, 2021, 4:12 am

Doge is designed to never hit $1

A Nobody - April 22, 2021, 4:24 am

I sold but I'm gonna buy some back and keep it stashed away in case a meme event happens again some day.

Im the same. I dont trust doge, I know is a shitty coin but I like the meme. I sold and ill buy again what I can afford to lose.

What people can't do is literally buy doge with their lifesavings or important money thinking that 1$ thing, lmao

I do think this will be the peak of doge(famous last words, right) it's a pointless coin at the end of the day & there are so many whales with so many people finding old wallets etc. I see this being the last BIG pump and dump type thing & it could get near $1 but after that it's got nowhere to go. We shall see.

Linux X - May 8, 2021, 11:44 pm

It starts to going down down down xD

Bought high sold low. Rethinking things now.

jganjanski - May 9, 2021, 12:08 am

I've been shorting it since yesterday. Am feeling quite pleased and am trying to determine a price to set as a stop limit.

I wonder if the coin will die altogether - and if celebrities will finally stop pumping this garbage coin. Contrary to what I want, for some reason I feel as if it'll stay alive somewhat - as a consistent pump & dump scheme or "hustle" as Elon refers to it as.

Bluffer - May 9, 2021, 12:29 am

Spent 3 hours tonight literally just sitting watching the live price trying to short it. I ended up losing more of my money than I would've if I sold at .56 and left it alone. I'm disappointed but ultimately I didn't lose anything as of now, I managed to cash out about $.50 less than what I deposited in total. All my unrealized gains lost but maybe I'll take it as a learning lesson.

The lessons have more value. Just don't repeat the same mistake twice or more ?

Each time the hype is bigger than the event. It seems you have to predict the next pump before it happens or as it's happening & then get the hell out just before the inevitable crash to make maximum profits. Clearly some people have mastered this & are making good money.

True I was also able to dump at the time it was very close to it's full peak.

Well, it's been called as memecoin for a reason I think. Poop DogeCommunity people are still holding it I believe.

Down 25% today to under .50. I for one am glad the bottom is falling out. Bring back some sanity to the market. Doge ain't worth a penny.

Morons all over the place pumping this as if it's any value at all beyond an Elon Musk tweet.

That shit is so undeveloped it's ridiculous.

<https://github.com/dogecoin/dogecoin>

When will Doge hit $1? Probably never but if one day it does I am hoping that it's because Bitcoin is $1m. Please please everyone who has this crap sell it and buy into real market crypto assets that bring value to the ecosystem. You are literally hurting the market by choosing to invest in crap. It will cause a crash if this continues.

It's also because to the newbie it seems affordable. Anybody can own 1 whole doge whereas you cant do that with say btc for most people. I know that's not how crypto works but it's how it can appear to some people.

It's just pyramid type schemes & people taking advantage of clueless individuals. Some people think because btc rose so big this one day might happen to doge?

Yea to bad those people don't understand how crypto works and the pool size of dogecoin. And what it would take to drive the price up to anything NEAR bitcoin would be astronomical

Bluffer - May 9, 2021, 12:10 pm

I don't think its a smart investment but any coin getting this much mainstream attention has to be taken as at least a short term (day to day) somewhat quality investment if you can get in low enough and ride it high. Today would've been a good example of that seeing as it went quite low and is now pushing toward .60 again.

Changes rapidly though because the big whales are laughing at us as they manipulate it over and over. I'm staying out unless I see a significant drop with the hype still going.

TehHaxx - May 9, 2021, 12:23 pm

It stayed quite resilient at 0.35GBP, seeing it rise as of right now its reached 0.42GBP. Pullback is honestly something to marvel at

You are for sure gambling. I'm in at .25,.26,.27,.28

I hope to never see it that low again though. I did just see though the reason it is going up again now is because some company put in like 1 billion for a trip in Lunar Travel to the moon !
