Thread: Competing in Halo 5 Community Conference Championship today

TB12 - April 24, 2021, 9:25 am

EDIT: Another teammate can't make it due to family emergency so we have to forfeit.

So my team won it's playoff series last week in this community run halo league called "League of Fire". Today is what is basically the conference championship that determines who goes to the championship finale next week. Our best player can't make it which will hurt but if anyone feels like watching it'll be on at 5 PM EST today on the league's twitch channel

You can also watch our last week's game here <https://www.twitch.tv/videos/992540486>

I followed, I usually watch the Tuesday 2s. Is there a bracket? I want to see if Renegade or Trippy is in it.

Nah it's not any pro players lol. It's a community run league and this has mid to low tier players in it. All teams have 5 players and 4 play in a game. Cash prizes for 1st and 2nd place though. League has been going for several weeks and last week was first round of playoffs.

However the game today is likely being rescheduled till tomorrow, I will update the thread when I know for sure

EDIT: f in the chat we had to forfeit
