Thread: Just sold a portion of my XMR for a Tesla

Covalent - April 24, 2021, 9:35 pm in 2018 I bought up a bunch of Monero when it was around 50$ or so because I thought it was really cheap for its value. My idea was that DNM are going to start using XMR over BTC and eventually move completely over to it as chain analysis is used more and more to bust distributors.

This week was a pretty great week for Monero and I needed a new car so I said fuck it and sell off some of mine. Im still long XMR.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Delivery is in 7 - 10 weeks.

Thats my win post for the year ???

That's awesome! Everything else is just profit. This is how we make crypto work. Actually use it in transactions and not hoard it.

Creativo - April 25, 2021, 6:41 am

Man this is what Im talking about! BIG BIG Congrats! This is where you get to see the gainz, Where you can see and feel your Crypto, Awesome car cant wait until I can get one myself. You must be on Cloud 9 haha

Lorem Ipsum - April 25, 2021, 6:43 am

Even though I'd personally place this inside the Bragging Rights, you did a great job!

About 6-7x ROI and you didn't even sell your whole XMR stock. Meaning you did a nice investment job at the early age of XMR.

Nice to see you got a great ride for that in return. You could even make money with that Tesla by renting it out.. Another member did the same thing, but I can't recall his Username right now.

Tommie R - April 25, 2021, 9:26 am

Welcome to the Tesla club! Have a model X myself. Congrats on your gains.

zerklou - April 25, 2021, 9:57 am

Came in about a month ago, figured I should update you guys with how it looks.

Great car, would recommend.

Omniscient - July 1, 2021, 1:42 pm

Waste of money. You can get a reliable used car for $7-10k direct owner sale on Craigslist or similar online sites. Even if you buy a used car and have to put $2-3k into it, still a better deal.

But I understand the desire to have a Tesla. That's cool. I got a couple cars coming out that I really want. Just not sure I am willing to sell my crypto for them. I'd rather take a 3% payment, pay it off in a year and keep my crypto which often goes up way more than 3% annual.

I think when XMR hits $500 you will realize you paid 250% more for your Tesla.

G Eazy - July 1, 2021, 1:47 pm

Let's goooooo congrats :)

I did this, sold 1 BTC to buy my car when it was around $10k? Never doing it again.

beautiful car, a little off topic but if I had a Tesla I would have sex with a girl there (on the freeway with the Auto Pilot feature)
I know its probably illegal and weird but for some reason its on the list of things I want to do in life before I die, hopefully someday I can afford to buy a Tesla.

lol I've seen a porno like that

A tesla is cool I guess but many other car companies are making electric cars that are cheaper

Well yeah, most things that are fun or cool are a waste of money in a purely financial sense. But if you only focus on making the most "adulty" choices all the time, life will get pretty boring, at least for me. I do get your point but let the guy have his moment, he's most likely not scraping by if he can afford a Tesla. If he were, then I'd be concerned.

I already had a reliable car before the Tesla, I got a Tesla because I wanted one. When XMR hits $500 I might buy a house next who knows.

Heres the front, the back is less exciting and its rainy now.

Nice car and everything and judging from your comments you have enough XMR left to profit from a big pump..

But holy moly is that your lawn?!

Are you saying you live at home still? And you prioritized buying a Tesla over that? If I was your parents I'd kick you the fuck out.

Good job, what tesla model is that and how much did it cost? Also i'd like to see a video or a new thread about your general review about tesla once you try it (worth to buy it or not) because ive seen a lot of people complain how teslas are cheaply built especially the new 120,000$ tesla plaid, uneven edges, cheap plastic that can be ripped off easily, squiggly interior etc
