

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: how to open dispute

D9ni3l - May 3, 2021, 7:01 pm

Hey, I have a contract with someone but the contract is expired (contract started 5 days ago). Is it possible to open dispute to expired contract? Because i don't see the option.

Punny - May 3, 2021, 7:06 pm

How it expire if you did the deal

D9ni3l - May 3, 2021, 7:10 pm

The other side open the contract but I send the payment in PayPal and then he just ghosts me.

bk randy - May 3, 2021, 7:54 pm

(May 3, 2021 07:10 PM)D9ni3l Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The other side open the contract but I send the payment in PayPal and then he just ghosts me.

Did you accept the contract?

Always make sure the deal goes through before letting it expire or marking it complete.

You can see how long it takes for the to expire when you accept it.

I'm not sure if you can open a dispute without a contract proof, not sure on the rules with that right now, but you use to be able to just open a thread in Deal Disputes and let people know.

D9ni3l - May 3, 2021, 8:01 pm

Thank you :)

Yeah I just want people to know and warn about that person.

ghostboy - May 3, 2021, 10:11 pm

rip you need to make sure the buyer/seller accepted the contract first. It will give you a notification once it happens.

flavoral - May 4, 2021, 12:40 am

If it says Expired, that means the contract wasn't accepted. You open a Dispute on that afaik.

If it says Incomplete, that means the contract was accepted, but not marked as complete from both sides. You should be able to open a Dispute on that one.