Thread: I Feel 2018 Earthquake Coming Soon.

anmolpokhrel - May 4, 2021, 8:39 am

Now Investing in Crypto Starts to worry me. It's been Pumping for a whole fugging year. Almost all Top 100 cryptos have a Marketcap of 1B. BTC Hype is over, and now it's The ETH HYPE. When ETH Hype gets over, I am sure the market will collapse.

Altcoins are pumping due to ETH right now. Correction coming soon, guys. Hold tight. IF BTC AND ETH dip, it's all over. You know what had happened during 2017 When BTC reached 20K.. everyone expects it to reach 40K. But every month, it Dips.

That might happen soon.

I wonder if this crash would be greater than 2017. but who knows anyways? It's just my opinion. I might be wrong. There might be another Bull run for a whole fugging year, But For that Bullrun to take place. I think ETH must hit 600B or 1T market cap very soon. It all depends on ETH market stability right now. What do you guys think? I want your Opinion.

There were a lot of dips bigger than this in bitcoin when it hit ATH back in 2017. I dont think this is over for bitcoin

Just reading this made me feel very FUD.

Flood - May 4, 2021, 8:59 am

@ OP > There are a few projects that will rollout major updates this summer. Cardano and ETH main ones. The hype could keep the bull run going, maybe some of its trend ran out of gas for sure but uncertain.

I mean yeah the bull run is going on for far too long. IF Btc is gonna do another skyrocket move i will definitely sell everything tho (buy the same projects when bear hits for that juicy discount)

Personal opinion: yes: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6152182>

It will crash but It wouldn't crash as it did back in 2018.

A lot of people still regret selling everything after the last major crash but that was a lesson for a lot of people around the world.

Let's see what time brings.

BalleJatta - May 4, 2021, 11:03 am

I think the crash is near but it's still not the top.

still plenty of old coins away from ath like dash,bcash,ltc Mmm

Plus btc been pretty stable tbh 50-60k. I think it might top around 75-85

The difference is 'regret' how many of you here sat out the bear market? How many of you wished you bought more? If you still feel that regret of missing out on hundreds of thousands. This bull market is going to rage on.

Comparing this bull market to 2017 is very different at least for Ethereum. In 2017, we got shitcoins that promised to be the next 'Google' or 'Amazon'. This time around we have actual DeFi applications & NFTs that actually fulfill a purpose. We have Visa... Mastercard... JP Morgan... eBay... scaling, and building on Ethereum. We have institutional buyers filling their pockets with Crypto.

I'm not letting go of any of my crypto especially with ETH PoS bringing inflation to near 0 levels and EIP-1559 introducing deflationary pressure. Bring a bear market, it's just another chance to load up.

Honestly, its why I'm hoping for it. ?

Bitcoin dominance dropped to 47.81% the graph is looking very similar to 2017. There's so many shitcoins out there and seeing Doge hit $0.60 scares the hell out of me.

I think alt will pump more then we could hit the end. Who knows

Silence - May 4, 2021, 4:17 pm

Ill play with the market 3/4 more months before I jump out, it's gonna be risky but I dont care.

ingenious - May 4, 2021, 4:55 pm

Why did you have to jinx it

Bluffer - May 4, 2021, 10:58 pm

Been waiting for a correction since last year. I missed out on making a lot of money short term. I'm done waiting, bought some Doge and its on the rise.

TehHaxx - May 5, 2021, 12:35 am

Im more annoyed at myself for not holding DOGE, but after being burnt from the whole GME bullsh I've tried to keep level headed and not fall for the hype.

But the major difference being I don't think they can 'switch off' trading like they did with GME... so this 'technically' should be a safer option to keep mooning.

Also annoyed it caused the other coins I bought into to dip more haha, thought I was clever timing the dip

Buying something cheap doesn't make you rich. Means it has to go up again before you sell which means the bull market made you money.

But for the bull market to make you money you have to firstly buy the said asset.

Why would you buy it in a bull market when everything already went up a lot, when you can buy it with a 1000-2000% discount.

But if you going to invest in safemoon during the bear market yeah you going to get fucked for sure.

BaldCunt - May 5, 2021, 7:35 am

According to this :

I say give it 3 more months, then we'll see if the market can support bullish waves.
