You could offer additional information other than a quick copy and paste of the content of the site you've posted which is nothing more than a directory listing. If that is not a possibility, a simple link and some informational text would have sufficed in my opinion. The term 'Videos' for example in and of itself doesn't mean much.

It is also not too much to just look..Instead of posting about feelings

There is a link.And very simple text as well too
