One Piece LOL. I know people say it's too long but after a few episodes you become hooked and it's so easy to watch.

Also if you like sports anime I recommend Ace of the Diamond, it's insanely good.

Hamware - May 25, 2021, 9:50 am

Haikyuu is just a must watch.

I watched the first 100 episodes and didn't get hooked like people said I would. My brother is all caught up with the anime and manga and keeps telling me to watch more. It's not that I didn't like it but it just didn't hold my attention enough to keep going.

Death note, Sword art online, and the big 3 OGs - Bleach/Naruto/One Piece - are good ones for new anime watchers.

Mizari - March 11, 2022, 7:54 am

Without any exaggeration the best out of any anime series.IMO

I couldn't include one piece since it's not done yet.

I'm on season 4 of SAO, here's my breakdown of what you can expect. (doing my absolute best to avoid spoilers)

Season 1, story arc one: One of the best one-off anime seasons of all time. A fantastic plot with rich characters, plenty of twists and a beautiful ending.

Season 1, story arc two: Huge let down. Who the hell are these people. You're doing what!? With who!? Gross. I'm ashamed for having liked this show.

Season 2: Hey this is pretty dope! Idk why the show is still being made. Not much really relates back to the original plot line here, but it's definitely entertaining!

Season 3: This is a fantastic season. Legitimately makes the whole series up until now worth watching. This season ties everything together.

Season 4: CRINGE. It's a continuation of the plot from season 3, but somehow this entire seasons plot is being driven by the power of friendship.

Go into it with low expectations, and you'll have a good time. Maintain those low expectations, and you'll have a great one.

By the way, I love this fucking awful show.
