Hi there, I go by "stampixel" online. I made this account because a few days ago, I was in a public chatroom, I met a few people that knew hacking. One of them was named "unround" he told me about him hacking GitHub during 2020, he also showed me a blog post that he wrote about how it worked. I was impressed. I knew nothing about hacking, but me and unround talked for a while and I asked him "where should I get started", he told me he started of at hackforums.net. so yeah, that's my story!

Hm, that's interesting. Yeah HF is a spot for newbies, and a honeypot for feds.

Welcome aboard.
