I play Jungle AP Shyvana. My main strategy is to stack AP as heavy as possible with CDR and blast from the outside of team fights. When I start games I'll start red and go down the line to blue. Otherwise I'll use my e to check bushes on my way into their blue (if it's top side). Dragon is always my top priority because of my passive, so I'll take early dragon every time. If I build a cosmic drive then I can sell my boots eventually and buy another heavy ap item.

Hello

I play jungle and support, mostly Xin and Brand. I have a very aggressive playstyle, which usually catch people by surprise. Might not be the very best strategy, but it's what I enjoy so yeah.. :D

I love playing with an aggressive brand. He's got such a powerful kit that he can add a ton of damage to a fight even without a gold advantage.

I mostly play singed top or anivia, kassadin, vlad and singed mid.

Singed mid just cause I'm used to it quite a bit and can play through some match ups and win. Or I counter pick some match ups with singed like irelia.

For singed i just usually play lane out if it's a playable one or proxy if not or even if i'm in a winning lane i might just proxy as it forces him to farm under tower and lose tower hp or just tank the wave. Really depends on the game n such. But i think tf's is most important on singed as thats where he plays best.

kass is just farm everything and get kills and scale :^)

Singed has a crazy play style. First time I saw him running around behind enemy towers I lost it. ?
