

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: wescker has Disputed a Contract with Royal ! \(577996 \)

wescker - June 11, 2021, 6:07 pm

Contract Link: <https://hackforums.net/contracts.php?action=view&cid=285584>

Disputed Member: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=577996>

God....

This program is useless...

How can it be, that after passing the rootkit of my project, it breaks my .exe and on top of that, it becomes ULTRA DETECTABLE!!!!

I want my money back now!

In the forum there should not be this kind of announcements...

They should have to pass a filter or something, seriously, this does not make any sense...

Doomslayer - June 12, 2021, 11:54 am

Being not compatible with your project isn't a reason to dispute.

wescker - June 13, 2021, 3:37 pm

{ @DoomSlayer Being not compatible with your project isn't a reason to dispute. }

If I have opened a dispute, it is because I have read that in another post/dispute that @Royal does not usually answer/solve problems and besides, I personally do not like to waste my time. If I buy something that does NOT work for me, or is not compatible, I quickly look for something else, I do NOT waste time researching how I can make specifically THIS crypter be compatible with my software.

{ @Snyke Some people believe crypters and crypter programs are just magic "FUD" buttons. Do your research, use private crypters instead of public ones or contract out private crypts if you're incapable. }

No, I do not believe that encryption programs are "magic buttons" to make a program become totally FUD.

And as for "private crypters", what is a "private crypter" for you? A Crypter that to get it, I have to get in contact with some strange hacker of the TOR network or what the  are you trying telling me?

If you have any suggestion of a "private Crypter" please let me know, because I hired the Crypt service with @Royal, because I thought it was good.

If you think it is not and that there is a better "private Crypter", I am waiting for your answer.

[Clarification]

If I want a good Crypter, I pay for it. For that I have paid the 3 months license to @Royal, but if now, this program is no good for me, there are only 2 questions left to be solved:

If @Royal will update the Crypter to be compatible with my software or if @Royal will refund my payment for their service.

>>>> There is nothing more to clarify here, at least with you guys.

hazbot77 - June 14, 2021, 11:43 pm

(Jun 13, 2021 03:37 PM)wescker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) { @DoomSlayer Being not compatible with your project isn't a reason to dispute. }

If I have opened a dispute, it is because I have read that in another post/dispute that @Royal does not usually answer/solve problems and besides, I personally do not like to waste my time. If I buy something that does NOT work for me, or is not compatible, I quickly look for something else, I do NOT waste time researching how I can make specifically THIS crypter be compatible with my software.

{ @Snyke Some people believe crypters and crypter programs are just magic "FUD" buttons. Do your research, use private crypters instead of public ones or contract out private crypts if you're incapable. }

No, I do not believe that encryption programs are "magic buttons" to make a program become totally FUD.

And as for "private crypters", what is a "private crypter" for you? A Crypter that to get it, I have to get in contact with some strange hacker of the TOR network or what the  are you trying telling me?

If you have any suggestion of a "private Crypter" please let me know, because I hired the Crypt service with @Royal, because I thought it was good.

If you think it is not and that there is a better "private Crypter", I am waiting for your answer.

[Clarification]

If I want a good Crypter, I pay for it. For that I have paid the 3 months license to @Royal, but if now, this program is no good for me, there are only 2 questions left to be solved:

If @Royal will update the Crypter to be compatible with my software or if @Royal will refund my payment for their service.

>>>> There is nothing more to clarify here, at least with you guys.

I personally own Royals Crypter (Byte Crypter) and i can say it works fine. Don't dispute just because it has a few detections, when it gets updated it wont have any. If you cannot wait for an update, here is a HQ private crypt - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6052714> and no, its not from a strange hacker on TOR.

wescker - March 3, 2022, 9:31 am

[{ THREAD/DISPUTE UPDATE — 03/03/2022 }]

Well, I'm going to update this dispute because the truth is, the admins should take part in the matter...

This dispute started on 06-12-2021, at 02:07 in the morning, when I saw that the software (Byte Crypter // 3 months license) that I had just bought, not only was useless to me, but as you can see in your original crypter post, with the license offers support and "technical service" through TeamViewer, Any Desk, etc...

[i]> PROOFS OF THIS: <https://screenrec.com/share/cpdaDYB7SR>

I tried to contact him, opened the dispute and still to this day I have NOT received any message from him or any direct contact method to solve ANYTHING!

So by DM I told him clearly and in the dispute I make it very clear. I want the refund of my license NOT ENJOYED and that curiously, after a couple of days, it stopped working.

Not only the crypter, it is not FUD, it does not reduce the detections either, it actually INCREASES them!

I saw clearly, that after running my program through the Crypter, since according to the original post its main function is to "act as a protective measure against reverse engineering", (<https://screenrec.com/share/9AyOa4X73k>), it broke my program completely.

Then, I thought that it was just the typical crypter to make less detectable remote administration tools (RAT), but again... I tried with the classic RAT, (Quazar), (AsyncRAT), (NjRAT), etc... but in all of them the same thing happened.

Not only did they completely break the ejecturables, but they also made them MORE detectable! On top of that, and to finish, the seller of the crypter, disappeared, did NOT respond to any of my messages or to this dispute and now, just 1 hour ago, has come to tell me that if I withdraw the dispute against him....

He is a scammer, I want my money back to my Paypal account. The only thing he did was to take my money, disappear until he felt like it and now, after 8 months! He comes with such a hard face to ask me if I can withdraw the dispute.

He should be banned or apply some resticcion or punishment in HF, should not be allowed these actions by sellers in HF. ?

What a pity that there are sellers with this service on the forum. ?

The evidence that I tried at the time, to contact him, demanding that he help me solve the problem or make me a refund, which obviamene, I NEVER oubtuve answers from the seller, there clearly shows the date of the message.

> PROOFS OF THIS: <https://screenrec.com/share/MWDT2Ojnlu>

What pisses me off after all, is that on top of all that, he is teasing me or trying to trick me in DM's, saying "that he solved my problem"....

[# IN THE MESSAGE FOR ME TO CLOSE THIS DISPUTE #]

> PROOFS OF THIS: <https://screenrec.com/share/piPS8DEhFW>[/i]