If you could only eat at one fast food/fast casual restaurant for the rest of your life where would you go?

For some reason I've always thought about the idea of only being able to eat at one place ever again.

I'm a psycho and I think that my pick would for sure be Chipotle. The limited options is a killer but it's solid basic food.

fun question, probably MacDonald.. i could eat that everyday plus they offer more than just burgers! but man it will be unhealthy. makes me think of the "Super size me" experiment :)
