Thread: Need help with node for very large project

I have setup many nodes before but this windows node is giving me lots of issues. I am ready to just buy a dedi and pay someone to setup a node for me, or remote desktop and figure out how i can route my physical (at home) server with port forwarding securely to my site, or use a vps.

We are creating an online algorithmic trading bot but i would also like to include a secure online wallet. If theres a developer good enough im hiring, send emails in my pm

You name yourself "blockchain dev" but can't figure out how to portforward, use a dedi or a vps.

Kinda strange to jump right into developing the complicated shit without knowing how anything else works

Node for what?

Are we talking a blockchain node, or a simple machine / VM / VPS?

Why do you need windows?

So many questions.. Explain yourself.

And don't call yourself a dev if you cannot figure this stuff out :D
