Thread: Add GoLang to Coding Section

I think it'd be a great idea to Add GoLang to Coding Section.

Why? It is backed by Google and their coders which are some of the smartest in the world and many contributors from the Open-Source.

It has nearly the same speed as C/C++/Rust and syntax clear if not more clear than Python. It is also Open-Source.

It also has CSP-Style Concurrency which makes it beat C at certain tasks in speed and efficiency!

As much as I'd love a GoLang section, and especially a Rust section, there isn't that much activity in any of the programming sections, so I'm not sure we'd see much meaningful activity in either of these.

This has been suggested and denied. I feel your point though.

There would not be enough activity and it would just be a dead section if implemented.

Ah that sucks, I really enjoy the language as a whole so far especially concurrency with a 16 core CPU :D
