

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Have You Attended Uni?

Blockonome - July 4, 2021, 4:26 am

Hey guys,

As a guy who never went to Uni, I always find it fascinating how people are telling me, that apparently you need a uni degree in order to get any job in the world (FAKE LIES) lol, but just wondering if you went to uni for your studies and whether or not you ended in debt because of it?

I only finished college, but sitting with a yearly salary above $100K pr. year, let me hear your stories.

I also heard that many that goes to uni, never actually work with what they studied? Is this really true?

Dan - July 4, 2021, 4:37 am

Never went to UNI, dropped out of everything early on in secondary school. Went back to college to learn a trade reasonably late but living comfortably now!

Exalted - July 4, 2021, 4:45 am

I am starting uni later this year; I have already held a job with just a vocational education. Those saying you need a uni degree to get any job are blatantly lying.

Once I have completed my study, I will be in debt, around €34k in total, €4k from vocational and €30k from uni.

I can't really vouch for the 'you won't use what you learn', but it applies to a large portion of my vocational ?

?Alexander - July 4, 2021, 5:06 am not really an university but more of a trade/technical school to learn IT hands-on for a few years havent regretted it since

Lilith - July 4, 2021, 8:10 am

Going into my third attempt soon. Third time's the charm, yea?

neightworks. - July 4, 2021, 8:40 am

Several times, I am like 80% to three different degrees and never finished any of them.