Yeah I'm interested in seeing what it's gonna be about this time. I watched these movies so many times growing up.

The Animatrix is really good too if you haven't seen it. If you like Love, Death & Robots you might like The Animatrix.

I'm really excited to see this and I'll definitely be seeing it in theaters. I really missed going to the movies the past year due to the pandemic.

Anyways, the Matrix series is one of my favorite movie series trilogy whatever you want to call it ever. I remember watching the first one as a kid and I being totally mesmerized by every aspect of it. Hoping this one will be as good!

It's so hard to believe that this movie is over 20 years old, There's guys on this forum that weren't even born when it came out

It really is. I remember when the original came out the special effects were cutting edge and I thought it was so cool (still do) but after re watching it couple months ago, the effects haven't held up very well over time. Either way the story and the movie itself is still one of the greatest in my opinion.

The Original DVD came with a bonus disk that showed how the movie was made and all the special effects was interesting

Me too that's why I'm going to watch the first 3 movies again just in case there's any subtle references to set up a fourth movie that we missed
