I think men should consider spa treatment for several reasons. Not only is it a pleasant feeling to have clean, smooth skin, but it's also great for confidence and physical health

I agree with this 110%.

I love a good spa treatment, or at the very least a good hour long massage.

It is just typically so pricey for my budget. Now, if I had the money I feel like I would be addicted to it.

I have a skincare routine and I recommend others do the same

I got a massage once and the lady spent majority of the time playing with my ass as I was naked on their table.

Pedicures are nice

It's actually pretty cheap to build your own sauna, got one in my garage and a jacuzzi on the deck used/good condition usually you can find for $1500-$3k.

Better price longterm than a membership.

I completely agree! The spa is very nice and relaxing to go to. I have actually been going to a spa near my area for the past eight months now. Go for it!
