I know a lot of people say that when you get rich you want to buy a bunch of nice expensive stuff but I always think if I got a lot of money I would buy stuff that reasonable. I would buy a 2021/2022 sedan for the family and I nice 3 bedroom house.

Would you buy really nice expensive flashy stuff?

Or just enough to live comfortably?

i would be reasonable, what if you someday become broke again? good to have some saved up so you have enough time to bounce back up

For me, I would buy myself a nice M5 because this is one of my dream cars for my entire life.

I don't need a fancy crazy house, just something decent. Then I would continue living my life as is without working, buy some smaller things here and there. Simple and reasonable, live a good comfortable life.

Nah, first I would make sure I have a modest, nice place to live. Then I'd pay family debts, mortgages etc.

Flashy stuff will only come when I'm making more money than I know what to do with.

I would definitely prefer a quiet and comfortable life. I have had the opportunity to experience abundance as well as poverty. However, in no circumstances did expensive, brand-name, and popular material things make me feel a more valuable person or simply make me feel better. If I had some serious cash, I would try to repay people who gave a helping hand. Give your loved ones the opportunity to make their dreams and plans come true. And I would invest the rest to repeat this process in the future.

I would buy what i really need to live comfortably , Even if i am millionaire or billionaire , i would invest my money instead of buying things i dont need in my life.

That's a really good way to see the situation. Always take care of those who take care of you. That's one of my main values other than family always comes first.

Exactly so, if not for people close to me, my life would probably have turned out completely different today.

Just like you say, bro. You must always take care of the family and always put it in the highest position????
